

Simple, functional & practical

X_cept structure enables the customizing of the desks to support diverse ways of an office layout requirement, which include the general workstation, executive, desk and meeting tables.

- A Conference
- B Training
- C Manager Desks
- D Open Space Office
- E Multi purpose

As today's working space continue to evolve and grow, the functionality and practicality of X_cept will be greatly appreciated. Diverse configurations in an office can be achieved with X_cept be it long workbenches or even face-to-face workstations. Each department or organisational needs can be easily met, thus the VERSATILITY of X_cept truly shines in today's ever changing working environment.

Simple but yet functional and practical, the X_cept ranges from desking, benches to table design that optimize the productivity and effectiveness in today's working environment. X_cept provides solutions to the modern workstyle, making efficient use of the office space. With its modular structure as well as universal layout, X_cept enable you to design your office that matches today's diverse ways of working requirements.

Features

- Flexible with a wide range of worksurface shapes, colour and sizes.
- Functional modular structure enables easy configuration.
- Practical design that enable easy access to power and data at all time.
- Simple configuration that eases the installation process.

Conference

Simple but highly practical elements of the X_cept conference table aim to inspire an interactive workgroup environment.

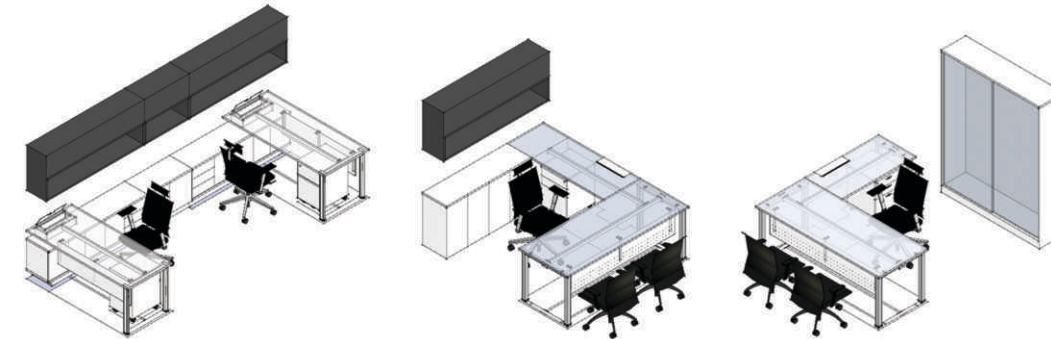

Training

An innovative and highly flexible approach to the classic training table, the X_cept training table can be customised to the shape and size required by the office layout. This stylish, flexible table is available in various designs and finishings.

Manager Desks

Elegance and functionality unite, the X_cept manager desk offers a wide range of compatible components, incorporate easy access to cable management and can be tailored to support individual requirements.

Open Space Office

Multi Purpose

X_cept is a versatile desking system that is designed to meet current and future workplace needs. The unique understructure components provide stylish, cost-effective, user-focused workplace furniture solutions.

